THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

Nothing particularly new this week concerning the electric railway. As was told in these columns last week, Galena has given the Southeast Kansas Electric Railway Company a franchise through that city, and about all that is needed now before work can be commenced is a right of way through Empire City. The city council of that city met Monday night and the ordinance granting a franchise was read for the first time, after which the council adjourned until Monday night, at which time the franchise asked for will undoubtedly be granted. When this is done preparations looking to the immediate building of the line will be made, but until a franchise is given by the Empire City council nothing can be done, because Empire City is one of the principal places which the company wishes to reach with its line.

But the line is going to be built, the money is ready, and nothing but the sudden ending of the world will prevent it.

The right of the allottees in the Peoria and Miami reservations in the Quapaw Agency to sell, or in-cumber, a portion of their land has at last been admitted. Many of the allottees are in reality "land poor," not having the means to work the land as it should be done, or to make the necessary permanent improvements. This they will now be enabled to do, either by the sale of their surplus lands, or by mortgage loans, just the same as the whites. The bill provides "that the adult allottees of land in the Peoria and Miami reservation in the Quapaw agency, Indian Territory, who have each received allotments of two hundred acres or more, may sell one hundred acres thereof, under such rules and regulations as the secretary of the interior may prescribe."

According to a correspondent of the United States Investor, the towns of Woodsdale, Springfield, Moscow, and Fargo, in Kansas, which had a population of 1,100 in 1890, have now only a population of 18. The town of Hugoton, in the same state, has only three families out of the 400 hundred that used to live there. Nine children go to the $10,000 schoolhouse, and there is standing, like a monument of folly, a waterworks system that cost some eastern plutocrat $30,000. The town never paid a cent of interest or principal on all this and never will.

OBITUARY.

Died, at her home on Chouteau avenue, in this city, on Tuesday, June 15, 1897, Maude Gertrude McElhiney, wife of William A. McElhiney, aged twenty-two years and twelve days.

Mrs. McElhiney's illness was of almost two years duration. Last summer her husband took her to Colorado in the hope that a change of climate would benefit her failing health, but the hope was in vain, and they returned to Baxter Springs a few months ago. Mrs. McElhiney's health being as bad as ever. All of the best medical skill in this section of the country was brought into play to try and do something for her, but it availed naught and she gradually grew weaker, the end coming very peacefully on Tuesday afternoon of this week about 4 o'clock.

Mrs. McElhiney's maiden name was Maude Reynolds, and she was married to W. A. McElhiney December 21, 1892. Two children were the result of the union, one of whom, Wilda, survives her.

Deceased was a model young woman. She possessed all the traits essential to a kind and indulgent wife and mother, and while able she was indeed a helpmeet to her husband. Her friends equal the number of her acquaintances and her death casts a gloom over the entire community.

Funeral services were held on Thursday forenoon and were very largely attended. Rev. L. W. Foster, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city, conducted the services, which were both beautiful and impressive. The room at the residence where the remains were in state was a perfect bower of flowers. At the grave flowers had been scattered in great profusion, showing that loving hands had done all that was possible, even to the last.

Died, at her home on East street in this city on Sunday, June 13, 1897, Mrs. Agnes Wetherbee, wife of David A. Wetherbee. Mrs. Wetherbee's illness was consumption and her age at the time of her death was twenty-eight years.

Funeral services were held on Monday of this week, conducted by Rev. L. W. Foster, and the remains interred in the Baxter cemetery. The funeral was held under the auspices of the G. A. R., of which Mr. Wetherbee is a member.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Wetherbee left two little children to mourn her death.

Died, at her home in Miami, I. T., on Sunday, June 6, 1897, of heart failure, Mrs. E. Lockert, wife of Louis Lockert, aged forty-eight years. Funeral services were held on Tuesday, June 8, and the remains interred in the Baxter cemetery.

Died, on Saturday, June 12, 1897, at her home in the Quapaw reservation, I. T., of consumption, Mrs. Wm. Brauhard, wife of William Brauhard, aged twenty-six years. Funeral services were held on Sunday and the remains interred in the Peoria cemetery.

Died, at her late home near Vauk, Kansas, on Monday, June 14, 1897, of old age, Miss Prudence Wright, aged seventy-five years. Funeral services were held Tuesday and the remains interred in the Quaker Valley cemetery.

The Olathe Tribune tells about a grocer who put a $14 tag on a $1 canister and presented it to the family preacher. The next day the preacher returned it, saying that he was too poor to afford such a valuable ornament on his table, and if the grocer had no objections, he would like to exchange it for $14 worth of groceries. The grocer couldn't object, and it is said he believes very strongly in the text, "Be sure your sins will find you out."

A Fort Scott man named Arch Davenport has evolved an original scheme for furnishing cool drinking water on the public square of the town. His plan is to have the coil of water pipes put in an old well, which is conveniently near, so that the water is cooled before it reaches the surface. The water company has graciously lent the pipe and extended the coil into the well. There are 100 feet of pipe under water, and it runs to the surface very cool.

INDIAN COUNTRY OPENED.

A Gigantic Mining Enterprise Started in the Quapaw Reserve, Indian Territory.

A little more than a year ago the Quapaw Mining and Milling Company was organized and incorporated with a capital stock of $500,000. This company has leases on about 9,000 acres of land in the Quapaw reservation on the east side of Spring river and work of prospecting for lead and zinc ores would have been going on long ago had it not been for certain restrictions which had been placed around both the owners and lease holders of these lands. Last week, however, a bill passed Congress and became a law which removes these objectionable restrictions and prospecting has commenced in dead earnest. The Quapaw Mining and Milling Company has already leased land to several parties and several shafts are now sinking in the Devil's Hollow country. The company is now in a position to make leases on very favorable terms to parties desiring to prospect the land and applications for ground are coming in very rapidly.

It is believed that the land under lease and controlled by the Quapaw Mining and Milling Company is as rich in lead and zinc ores as any in the lead and zinc district and that only a few weeks time will be necessary to prove it. Certain it is that if surface indications count for anything the ground will prove a veritable bonanza.

The company has laid out a town site at the northwest corner of Patterson prairie about eight miles southeast of this city, and quite a camp will probably spring up at that place.

The officers of the Quapaw Mining and Milling Company are as follows:

President—Ex-Congressman Samuel Peel of Bentonville, Arkansas.

Vice President—Robert H. Sands of Baxter Springs, Kansas.

Treasurer—John M. Cooper of Baxter Springs, Kansas.

Secretary—A. W. Abrams of Baxter Springs, Kansas.

The above named officers, together with E. B. Schermerhorn of Jaleana and Wm. Grimes of Kingfisher, Oklahoma, constitute the board of directors.

Mr. Abrams is general manager of the company.

We will have more to say about this gigantic enterprise later on.

OUR BATH HOUSE.

BAXTER SPRINGS, June 18. ED. NEWS: I was greatly surprised on visiting the Baxter Springs bath house this week to find the improvements made by the Drs. Jones and the interest taken by the citizens. I found the baths in perfect order and just as good, for all practical purposes, as those at Hot Springs, Ark.

The vapors can be taken at any degree of temperature the patient requires and there are competent attendants, both male and female, to attend to all wants. Upon closer examination I find the Baxter spring water fully up to the requirements of all medical waters and as capable of effecting a cure. If patients will follow the directions strictly, drinking freely of hot water and spending 40 to 60 minutes in the sweat room wrapped in the blankets, they can have all the benefits of a Hot Springs bath at about one-tenth the cost.

To the readers of the NEWS I would say, if you have any friends or relatives or acquaintances who are suffering from rheumatism, paralysis, eczema, scrofula or any stubborn chronic disease (except consumption) by all means induce them to take a course of baths at the Baxter bath house.

There are now some 15 or 20 persons taking a regular course with the Drs. Jones and I saw none who do not feel that the baths are doing them good. They are good for almost every disease and leave no bad effects, as medicine frequently does. The whiskey and tobacco habits can be permanently cured here as well as at the Keeley cure institutes, and all impurities of whatsoever nature driven out of the system. I feel very proud of the good work our bath house is doing.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY NOTES.

When the Southeast Kansas Electric Railway is built from Baxter Springs to the mining towns east of us, a produce and milk train will be one of the features. This will prove of vast benefit to the farmers living adjacent to Baxter Springs. They will not necessarily have to accompany their daily shipments, but can consign them to somebody in that business in Galena or Empire City.

There is quite a demand for residence property in Baxter Springs since electric railway connection with Galena is assured.

The promoters of the electric line are receiving dozens of inquiries about the enterprise.

When the electric line is built old Baxter is going to boom. Remember this.

Every mechanic in town is clamoring for the electric line. They well know that oceans of work in the way of new residences and improvements will follow the building of the road.

Wheat harvest is now going on and the yield will be fair.
